Baby tornadoes, near-waterspouts, and a large portion of rain with hail on the side furnished considerable excitement for the Slope. The storm which blew up about 5 o'clock in the afternoon came after a day of sultry heat and found many belated picnic parties headed toward the river. However, before the strong gusts of wind began to play, and the heaviest rain did not come until later.

Parties journeying homeward along the river roads were entertained by an odd spectacle on the Mandan side of the river. Two funnel-shaped clouds, which resembled waterspouts, danced and hopped about like two elves at play. They were visible for fully half an hour, and it is a miracle people feared that the whirling wind clouds had done much damage west of the river. Reports as late as noon today, however, indicated that aside from ripping out an occasional bunch of telephone wires, no harm was done. The infant tornadoes, in the opinion of O. W. Roberts, meteorologist for North Dakota, did not approach close enough to the ground to hit anything.

Oddly enough, although Bismarck's 50-mile wind exception, this town suffered practically the only damage reported to date from twisters. A healthy whirlwind, starting south of the penitentiary, ripped the tops from two box cars in a Northern Pacific train, which was bowling along at a good rate; scattered the Soo's snow fences from the Pen Junction to the roundhouse, picked up chicken houses and other light structures in its way. About the same time a whirlwind blowing toward the north of the city moved south, but it did not seem to do any damage.

Harry Clough and family on 22nd street, seeing the north-bound twister from afar, hastened to the cellar, where they remained, fearfully surveying the onrushing destroyer. When within a block or two of their home, the twister changed its mind, dived off on a tangent, picked up a good-sized hen house and reversed it, and then waved the city farewell.

The most thrilling experience of the evening fell the lot of S. Nelson, a janitor at the capitol, who has a peeled nose as an evidence of the playfulness of a lightning bolt. The Nelson family had just finished supper and were gathered about the front of the house, when a shaft of lightning struck the chimney, followed by the stack to the kitchen, on the rear part of the house, bulged out a wall of the kitchen, kicked down a pane of glass, and escaped by a window. Before it left, however, it gave Mr. Nelson, who was standing in the doorway in front of the house, a kittenish tap on the nose, which laid him out for a few seconds.

"I saw the lightning coming," said Mr. Nelson this morning, as he gently caressed a two-inch strip of proboscis which is devoid of cuticle. "It was a ball of fire about as big as a bullet. I ducked, but not quite quick enough, and it just skinned along my nose. I went down on the floor, and a moment later, when I came to and ran upstairs I found the roof leaking like a wicker basket and the house on fire."

The best rain yet. After all the excitement, the weather bureau's report gives yesterday's storm credit for naught but good. Rain fell in greater or less volume until early in the morning, and the precipitation was fairly general throughout the state. The heaviest rainfall occurred where it was most needed, in the northeastern section of the state, which had not enjoyed the showers earlier experienced in the central and western portions. At Langdon 1.5 inches fell, and at Pembina 1.10. The precipitation at Bismarck was .63 of an inch, which was the average for the south-central section of the state. The rain was warm and was accompanied by little hail except in widely separated spots. Followed as it was by cool weather today, it produces ideal conditions for wheat.

Phones Out of Commission. Lightning twice struck some of the North Dakota Independent Telephone company's cables during the storm, ripping the outer covering to such an extent as to admit water, which short-circuited the wires. As a result an emergency crew is engaged today in straightening out 150 dead telephones. It is expected that all of these will be (Continued on page five)

(W.) LODGED IN JAIL.
Kansas City, June 11.—Confirmation of the report that Cletus and Claude Piersol, two of the alleged Springfield abduction plotters, have been brought to the jail here, was obtained today from officials of Springfield, who were here en route to question the other prisoners—Taylor Adams, and one son, and Sam McGinnis, who were understood still to be held at Stockton, Mo., a little town where a mob early today threatened the lives of the suspects in an unsuccessful effort to make them confess they had kidnapped and killed little Lloyd Keet.

Springfield Mo., June 11.—While more than 12,000 persons were gathered on the public square here Saturday, a report was received by a local newspaper that a posse had overtaken Sheriff Webb and seven prisoners, suspected of kidnapping and killing Lloyd Keet, 14-months-old son of J. H. Keet, a banker, and is bringing the captives back to Springfield.

The sheriff was attempting to take the suspects to another city for safe keeping. The mob is growing hourly and threats of lynching are made openly on the streets by the thousands stirred by the finding of the body of the Keet baby in an old well on a deserted farm.

The newspaper dispatch said farmers had burned a bridge over which the sheriff would have to take his party and the mob had abandoned the motor car, taking the prisoners into the brush where they were surrounded and captured.

Try to Calm Crowds
Authorities here are taking every precaution to prevent violence and efforts are being made to calm the crowds.

Men gathered about the streets early and discussed the possible destination of the sheriff and his prisoners and imagining the difficulties that (Continued on Page Three)

Stop Eating Lamb or Veal!
Sale of Young Cripples Meat Supply

BY E. C. RODGERS
Spare the lamb chop and the veal cutlet!
That's my advice to city folk. If you must have meat, take beef, pork or mutton.
American farms are being drained of beef cattle and sheep! Extraordinary high prices are tempting thousands of farmers to send to market their calves, lambs and breeding animals.
This means a meat shortage in the future far worse than the one now staring us in the face. Everywhere farmers are figuring on selling their young animals now. Feed for them costs heavily and prices are temptingly high. The two combined are doing their best to wreck the meat-producing industry of the United States.
The Minnesota food production and conservation committee has issued a statement to the farmers of the north-west showing them the danger of selling off breeding animals, calves and lambs.
"Retain the entire lamb crop until the spring of 1918 for the sake of the wool clip and a large mutton return," the committee pleads.
"Discourage the shipping of immature animals."
J. Ogden Armour, millionaire packer, goes so far as to urge meatless days as a solution.
"There will be a scarcity of nearly all kinds of live stock for at least three years," says G. Howard Davidson, president International Live Stock exposition.
"This means there should be no selling of young animals or female breeding stock merely because current prices are high."
A South Dakota cattleman placed the growers' side thus:
"We know it is robbing the future to rush immature meat animals to the market, but what can we do? Prices for animal food is higher than it has been in the 20 years I have been raising cattle. Labor is scarce. If we hold our calves and lambs, paying the high

(By Associated Press.)

St. Paul, Minn., June 11.—The National Nonpartisan league, in a statement issued here today, declares it is not opposed to the sale of the Liberty Loan bonds, but that it would be better for the government to use its surplus wealth to bear the expense of the war. It believes in "the conscription by the government of huge war profits and of swollen incomes."

The statement says:
Position of League.
"The position of the league is not one of opposition to the sale of the Liberty bonds, nor to any other step taken by the government to prosecute the war. League speakers, however, have reserved the right and have considered it their patriotic duty to publicly urge the adoption of a policy which will better serve to concentrate the full resources of the nation in the task of bringing the war to successful conclusion. They believe that rather than load a burden of debt on future generations, it will be better for the government to use the surplus wealth which the nation has created and is creating to bear the expenses of the war. They believe in the conscription by the government of huge war profits, and of swollen incomes."

Contradictory Reports.
Contradictory reports concerning the attitude of the league in North Dakota, and the statement by Governor Wold of the Reserve bank in Minneapolis, that the league was opposing the sale of the bonds, brought forth the statement today. In the absence of President Townley, Joseph Goldberg, manager of the organization department of the league, added the following:
"What we are opposed to in this Liberty Loan business is this: We are opposed to using a species of coercion in getting already poorly paid employees to purchase Liberty bonds, and then let those excess profits which have been made as a direct result of the war go to private stockholders, for instance, the Du Pont Powder company and the United States Steel corporation. Our contention is that when the government needs money to finance the war, let it take these immense profits of the munitions makers."

Further, we say that in a state of war, the government should control the necessities of life, and make the prices for producers and consumers."

MINOT MAKING DRIVE

feed bills, what assurance have we that the big packers won't knock the bottom out of stockyard prices next year and leave us holding the empty bag?"
But the American meat eater can take the situation out of the hands of the grower and packer. He can depend more upon his garden vegetables.

The government should place a ban on veal and lamb eating. That means forcing the farmers to keep their immature animals until they grow into heavy meat producers.

The government can also protect the farmer by seeing that the price is regulated by the law of supply and demand and not fixed arbitrarily by packers or meat speculators.

The day I was at the Chicago stockyards sheep were selling as low as $5.50 per hundredweight, while spring lambs went like hotcakes as high as $20.50 per hundredweight. Beef steers were down to $9.80, but they were bidding as high as $14.75 for prime vealers.
This country doesn't need meatless days. All it needs are veal-less and lambless days—every day in the week. If it goes on devouring veal and lamb there's no meatless days all the time in millions of homes later on.
The American Short-horn Breeders' association, composed of men who are doing their best to stock this country with the best meat-producing beef, is lending strenuous effort to increase the supply of beef animals and conserve the national meat crop.
The Great Northern railroad has removed veal from the menus of its dining cars. This, an official said, will save 5,000 calves a year.
School children near Chicago have organized calf clubs, and are getting calves from farmers for raising.
Farm boys and girls the country over have been interested in calf clubs by county agricultural agents, who also have organized stock breeding co-operative associations in an effort to half the ebb of America's beef supply.

MUST BE GIVEN REALITY

Washington, June 11.—President Wilson, in a communication to the new government of Russia, has made plain the war aims of the United States, and its position on "no annexation, no indemnities."

"No territory must change hands except for securing for those who inhabit a fair chance of life and liberty," the communication says.

"No indemnities must be insisted on except those that constitute payment for manifest wrong done."
"No readjustments of power must be made, except such as will tend to secure the future peace of the world and the future welfare and happiness of its people."

The President's communication in full is:
"In view of the visit of the American commission to Russia to discuss the best and most practical means of co-operation between the two peoples in carrying the present struggle for freedom of all peoples to a successful consummation, it seems opportune and appropriate that I should state again in the light of the new partnership, the objects of the United States has had in mind in entering the war."

Objects Reclouded.
"Those objects have been very much clouded in the past few weeks by mistaken and misleading statements, and the issues at stake are too momentous, too tremendous, too significant for the whole human race to permit any misinterpretations or misunderstandings, however slight, to remain uncorrected for a moment."

"The war has begun to go against Germany, and in their desperate desire to escape the inevitable, ultimate defeat, those who are in authority in Germany are using every possible instrumentality, are making use even of the influence of groups and parties among their own subjects to whom they have never been just or fair or even honest, to promote a propaganda on both sides of the sea, to win preserve for them their influence at home and their power abroad."

DEATH LIST IN BUTTE MINE FIRE
WILL REACH 145

Butte, Mont., June 11.—The latest figures made public today account for 63 of the miners who had been trapped in the Speculator shaft by a fire Friday night, as being dead, 53 identified, and 10 unidentified. According to the coroner, the death list probably will total 145. Eighty-two men are thought still to be in the mine.

Ten Found Alive.
Ten miners were found alive today on the 2,200 foot level of the Speculator mine. Helmet men got into communication with them. These men, using cement sacks and mine water, had hemmed themselves in so thoroughly, that tools had to be brought to break through their living tomb. Seventy-two men remain unaccounted for.

Jamestown, N. D., June 11.—Fire originating in a shed at the rear of the Ringuette livery barn here burned the structure to the ground, consumed the Crombie auto repair shop, the Lambert blacksmith shop, an unoccupied residence at the rear of the blacksmith shop and severely damaged many buildings in the vicinity here Saturday afternoon. Fanned by a strong south wind the flames spread rapidly and fire fighters were unable to do more than save buildings nearby. The origin of the fire is unknown. The total loss is estimated at $35,000.

EXCESS OF NORMAL

Washington, June 11.—The level of prices paid producers of principal crops on June 1 was 98 per cent higher than a year ago, and 107 per cent above the past nine years' average on that day, the department of agriculture reported today. Producers of meat animals on May 15 received 44 per cent more than a year ago, and 71 per cent more than the average price on that day for seven years. The composite condition of all crops was 58 per cent below their 10 year average.

An Atlantic Port, June 11.—Lord Northcliffe, on an errand to America, to co-ordinate British activities here, as a commercial representative of the British government, arrived in the United States today.

As virtual head of the British war mission in this country, Lord Northcliffe, owner of the London Times and other English newspapers, comes not as a diplomatic representative, but to work along industrial and economic lines, in the furtherance of his government's interests in America. In this connection, he is expected to co-operate with the French commission.

Issues Statement.
Lord Northcliffe issued the following statement today:

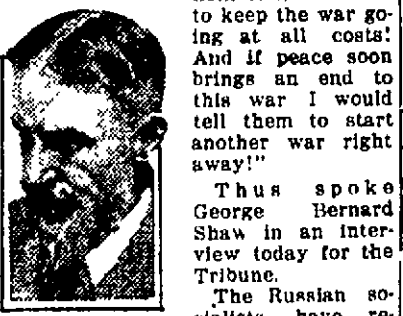

"The war cabinet has designated me head of the British war mission to the United States, and I have been instructed to try to co-ordinate the work of the various admirable British organizations already established here. Until I present credentials to Washington, it is impossible for me to make another or further statement."
"I can, however, express my great personal pleasure at being again in America, which I have so often visited, and which has so many delightful friendships for me. Nor is it saying too much when I add that the British people appreciate the welcome accorded Mr. Balfour and his associates, and the complete success of the mission."

Emperor Charles

Amsterdam, June 11.—A Budapest dispatch says Emperor Charles has again assured the Hungarian people that he is in favor of an early peace as well as a wider form of suffrage. On Friday a crowd estimated at 100,000 marched to the burgomaster's office at Budapest, where Deputy Vascony gave the burgomaster an address to be delivered to the premier urging the adoption of the secret vote and an enlarged franchise.

Shaw on Russian Revolt
"Keep War Going," He AdvisesBy KENNETH W. PAYNE.
London, June 11.—"If I were to give my advice to the Russian revolutionists it would be to keep the war going at all costs. And if peace soon brings an end to this war I would tell them to start another war right away!"

Thus spoke George Bernard Shaw in an interview today for the Tribune.
The Russian socialists have repeatedly indicated their desire to work for peace at the earliest moment possible without indemnities or annexations. But Shaw, the world's greatest socialist thinker, tells them instead to keep on fighting if they know what's good for them.
"A nation like the United States holds together in time of peace," he said today, "because its constitution is a going thing. Russia in revolution has thrown over the restraint of long established government. In peace now Russia would probably fly apart. Continued carrying on of the war is the link to hold her together."
"The man in the street hardly realizes the position of the successful revolutionists. They are men from modest walks of life who are suddenly thrown into positions of unlimited power. They have not the restraint of past experience, and all around them are tempting opportunities for graft."

"To hold their position and opportunities, they have to struggle against

United States

Washington, June 11.—The Liberty loan today entered its last lap in its race to reach the two-billion dollar mark by Friday, when the subscription period ends. Small subscriptions by the thousands, or even millions, must come in this week to make the loan a success. Treasury officials count strongly on the help of men and women with small savings.

Two days ago $700,000,000 remained unsubscribed and the amount now remaining is about the same. To help in the sale, school, church and city bells will ring four times today to remind citizens of the four days left in which to subscribe. Tomorrow they will ring three times, Wednesday twice, Thursday once. Friday, which is also flag day, will be marked by the blowing of whistles, ringing of bells and torch parades.

Amsterdam, June 11.—Field Marshal von Hindenburg has telegraphed to the Potsdam union for a German peace.

CHURCH IS BORNUnion of Three Lutheran Churches Is Formally Announced Today

St. Paul, Minn., June 11.—The Norwegian Lutheran church of America came into being Saturday through the formal merger of the three great synods of the church.

The first split in the church took place 71 years ago, originating in dissensions in Norway. The Hauge Norwegian Lutheran synod was established in this country in 1846 and the Norwegian Lutheran synod in 1853. In 1890 the United Norwegian Lutheran church was founded.
Communicants numbering 500,000 were united under one church organization, through the merger. A number of schools and colleges also came under the jurisdiction of the new organization, including St. Olaf's at Northfield and Concordia at Moorhead. Extensive foreign and domestic missions will be joined so far as their management is concerned.

The Rt. Rev. J. J. Esko, president of the Hauge synod, Dr. H. G. Stub, head of the Norwegian Lutheran, and Rt. Rev. T. H. Dahl, president of the United synod, were active in bringing the three branches together and in drawing up plans for their union.

ARRIVE IN PARIS.

Paris, June 11.—The first contingent of American officers of Major General Pershing's staff arrived here this morning.

The officers, six in number, have come to look over a large amount of work preliminary to caring for the American forces when they arrive.

(By Associated Press.)

The wiping out of the German salient at Messines apparently is merely the prelude to a far mightier battle. After a German reaction of a surprising character, the British have resumed trench raids from north of Ypres to as far south as Epheby, 70 miles as the crow flies, but far more than that along the windings of the battle fronts.

Voluntary Retirement.

The official announcement of raids north of Ypres is especially interesting in view of the recent frequently reported heavy artillery fire on the Belgian front. Some weeks ago the Germans made a voluntary retirement from in front of the Belgian lines. From Ypres the allied front curves sharply to the sea and advance here would threaten the Germans hold on their great submarine bases on the Belgian coast, Ostende and Zeebrugge.

To Resume Offensive.

In the meantime there are indications that General Sarrail is preparing to resume the offensive in Macedonia. The Bulgarian official announcement reported a great increase in the allied artillery fire on this front. Considerable fighting has been on for a month, but the aggressiveness of the report and the surprising events in France have combined to obscure the situation here.

Another gleam of light has pierced the dark clouds hanging over Russia. The cossacks have again voiced their determination to support the provisional government, and there are indications they will receive backing from the peasants. This cheering news comes on the heels of the publication of President Wilson's message to Russia, which is heralded by the British press as not only a great state document, but a powerful reinforcement to the men who are striving for law and order in the infant republic.

Ashley, N. D., June 11.—"I do not believe there is a single slacker in the county," says G. D. A. Hildreth for failure to register.

"Some time ago I saw a statement that there was an uprising against the government in McIntosh county and that there were young men in the eastern part of the county advising the young men not to enlist," says President Grosz. "More recently I have noticed the statement that 15 young men here at Ashley had wilfully refused to register on the 5th of this month.

"I have lived in this county for 31 years and in Ashley for 15 years; know every person in the county and town, and know personally that both of the above statements are absolutely untrue. Further south in the Missouri valley, Rapid City, S. D., got 51 per cent more than its normal precipitation, and the percentage for Yankton was 110. Sewell turned the letter over to State's Attorney Burgeson. A registered letter was mailed from the latter's office to the address given; the identity of the woman was established and a sister, Mrs. C. Hage of Dickinson, implicated in the plot. Sheriff Hartung, with warrants for the arrest of the two women on charges of blackmail, went to the Minnesota city, arrested the defendants, and returned with them to Dickinson, where they await preliminary examination.

Olson was arrested on 12 charges, and has furnished bail in the sum of $10,000 for his appearance. He waived preliminary examination on three of the other charges, and the remainder were dismissed.

Besides Olson 33 other Minot people have pleaded guilty to charges of gambling and violations of the liquor and vice laws of the state. The total number of defendants growing out of the recent raid was 48. A majority of those who have entered pleas now are serving jail sentences, and several thousand dollars have been collected in fines.

Rolla, N. D., June 11.—"Wire my attorney, F. T. "The reason I didn't shoot them all when I went to Belcourt that night to get my wife, I did not have enough cartridges—I mean Joe Henry and family and mother-in-law. Still it would have been expensive, as cartridges are high. I'm sorry for father and mother. Joe Henry will get his dose soon enough when he comes back from the lake, from a friend of mine. Good-bye to all my friends only—Joe." Then, spurning the mutilated body of his wife, which he had left by the roadside, Davis proceeded to a threshing machine outfit nearby, rested a 12-gauge shotgun on the engine and, placing the muzzle against his forehead, pulled the trigger. When he borrowed the shotgun from a friend it was with the remark that he wanted to "shoot a dog."

DEATH MAY CLAIM
CHUMACK BEFORE
LAW HAS ITS SAY

Wounds, Superstitious Fears and Nervousness Having Way—Two Trials June 19

Dickinson, N. D., June 11.—Worry and superstitious fear may claim for Mike Chumack, slayer of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Caldwell of Richardson, and alleged rapist of 14-year-old Ella Croy, the penalty which the state of North Dakota cannot inflict for his crimes. His self-inflicted gunshot wound is aggravating his condition, and fears are entertained that he may not live to stand trial June 18, when he is to be arraigned here in district court.

The alleged girl victim at the preliminary hearing proved an unsatisfactory witness, testifying with much apparent reluctance. She admitted that after the alleged assault she had kissed Chumack goodbye, before he departed for the barn with the avowed intention of ending his own life.

Her tale of the night of terror at the Caldwell ranch which followed the verdict of a district court jury in favor of the dead rancher and against the mysterious "J. C. R." who is seeking to establish his identity as Caldwell's long lost son, was a sensational feature of the hearing. Caldwell, she declared, upon his return from court, loaded every gun in the house and sharpened every available knife, and throughout the night, Miss Croy testified, he remained awake and on guard, fearing that vindictive neighbors who had supported the claims of "J. C. R." might make an attack on the ranch.

Adolph Lehman, son of a wealthy, retired farmer in St. Paul, and alleged slayer of Adolph Wetzelstein of Richardson as a result of a long standing feud over the affections of the latter's wife, also will be arraigned in district court one week from today. The two cases are among the most sensational that this old time cow country ever has produced. Feeling has run so high against Lehman that for a time the jail was guarded against possible attack.

COOL WET WEATHER NEED FOR NORTH DAKOTA OATS

Weather Bureau Statistics Show Off-Season Conditions Are Best for Crop

Cool, wet weather for June will prove profitable to the North Dakota oat-grower, according to the weather bureau predicts. From 1892 to 1915 the temperature in June averaged above normal seven years, and in every instance the oat yield was below normal. It was cooler than the average 17 years, and the yield was above normal 12 of these years and below normal five. There were six years when it was warm and dry, and the yield averaged 29.5 bushels below normal, while during ten years, when the weather was wet and cool, there were nine crops which averaged 6.3 bushels above normal, and one year in which the yield was 5 bushels below normal.

Al Jolson
AT AUDITORIUM MONDAY,
JUNE 11th 1917

America's greatest blackface comedian will entertain you with his inimitable humor if you have his exclusive Columbia Records.

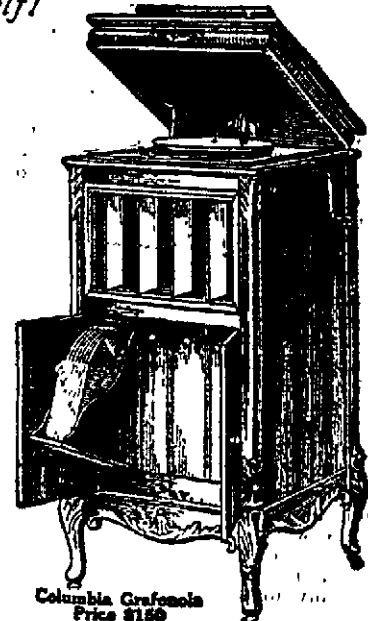

Al Jolson's latest and biggest hit, sung by Al Jolson himself, is always out on Columbia Records while it is a hit—while everyone is playing, singing or whistling it. Listen to his ludicrous renditions of "Where Did Robinson Crusoe Go With Friday on Saturday Night?", "Now He's Got a Beautiful Girl," "Yaaka Hula, Hickey Dula" and other comic hits from his long repertoire, and you will think you are hearing Al Jolson himself!

The Columbia process of recording reproduces the drollery of such voices as Al Jolson's with the same mirror-like, brilliant fidelity which marks Columbia reproductions of operatic, orchestral and instrumental gems.

That is the one great reason why Al Jolson, Bert Williams, Weber and Fields, Frank Tinney and a score of other top-notch vaudeville and comedy stars make records only for the Columbia Company.

To hear their records is to appreciate it—and to have the time of your life, besides! Ask your dealer to play them today —"hearing is believing!"

CAR OF GRAIN MYSTERIOUSLY GOES ASTRAY

Equity Co-operative Exchange and Heble Brothers Sued
for Its Value

DIVERTED FROM WILMAR ON FORGED WAY-BILL

Wolsted of Cogswell, N. D. Was Original Shipper of the Wheat

St. Paul, Minn., June 11.—Mysterious diversion of a carload of grain from the Duluth market to St. Paul figures in the lawsuit of J. Greer against the Equity Co-operative exchange and Heble Bros. which was argued today in the state supreme court on an appeal from Ramsey county district court denying a new trial after a verdict for the defendant was directed.

Wolsted Bros. of Cogswell, N. D., in October, 1915, loaded 1,500 bushels of durum wheat in a Great Northern car at Brookland, N. D., and consigned it on commission to a grain company in Duluth. When the car reached Wilmar it was diverted to St. Paul, apparently on a forged waybill, it is said. Later a man who said he was C. H. Clark, and who claimed to be the owner of the grain, ordered the Equity exchange to dispose of it and it was sold to Heble Bros.

Greer, acting for the Great Northern road, it is claimed, bought an assignment of the claim of Wolsted Bros. and then brought the recovery suit now in court.

to the undoing of the very men they are using.

Fighting for Liberty

"The position of America in this war is so clearly defined that no man can be excused for mistaking it. She seeks no material profit or aggrandizement of any kind. She is fighting for her own, but for the liberation of peoples everywhere from the aggressions of autocratic forces."

"The ruling classes in Germany have begun of late to profess a like liberality and justice of purpose, but only to preserve the power they have set up in Germany and the selfish advantages which they have wrongly gained for themselves, and their private prospects of power all the way from Berlin to Bagdad and beyond."

"Government after government has, by their influence without open conquest of its territory, been linked together in a net of intrigue directed against nothing less than the peace and liberty of the world."

"The meshes of that intrigue must be broken, but cannot be broken unless wrongs already done are undone, and adequate measures must be taken to prevent it from ever again being re-woven or repaired."

"Of course, the imperial German government and those whom it is using for their own undoing are seeking to obtain pledges the war will end in the restoration of the status quo ante."

German Imperialism

"It was the status quo ante out of which this iniquitous war issued forth, the power of the imperial German government within the empire and its widespread domination and influence outside of that empire. That status must be altered in such fashion as to prevent any such hideous thing from ever happening again."

"We are fighting for the liberty, the self-government and the undictated development of all peoples, and every feature of the settlement that concludes this war must be conceived and executed for that purpose."

"Wrong must first be righted and then adequate safeguards must be created to prevent this being committed again. We ought not to consider remedies merely because they have a pleasing and sonorous sound."

"Practical questions can be settled only by practical means. Phrases will not achieve the result. Effective readjustments will, and whatever readjustments are necessary must be made. But they must follow a principle and that principle is plain."

Future Peace

"No people must be forced under sovereignty under which it does not wish to live. No territory must change hands except for the purpose of securing for those who inhabit it a fair chance of life and liberty. No indemnities must be insisted on except those that constitute payment for manifest wrongs done. No readjustments of power must be made except such as will tend to secure the future peace of the world and the future welfare and happiness of its peoples."

"And then the free peoples of the world must draw together in some common government, some genuine and practical co-operation that will, in effect, combine their force to secure peace and justice in the dealing of nations with one another."

"The brotherhood of mankind must no longer be a faint empty phrase. It must be given a structure of force and reality. The nations must realize their common life and effect a workable partnership to secure that life against the aggressions of autocratic and self-seeking powers."

Pour Out Blood

"For these things we can afford to pour out our blood and treasure. For these are the things we have always professed to desire, and unless we pour out blood and treasure now and succeed, we may never be able to unite or show conquering force again in the great cause of human liberty.

"The day has come to conquer or submit. If the forces of autocracy can divide us, they will overcome us; if we stand together, victory is certain and the liberty which victory will secure. We can afford to be generous, but we cannot afford then or now to be weak or omit any single guarantee of justice and security."

HIGHWAY BOARD TO HAVE FIELD PUBLICITY MAN

Engineer Now Connected With Federal Office of Public Roads Coming Friday

COUNTIES CHANGING
LOCATION OF TRAILS

The state highway commission is to have an experienced all-around field man and publicity agent. J. E. Kaulfuss, an engineer formerly employed by the Wisconsin state highway commission, by the highway commission of Maine, former instructor in engineering in the University of Maine, and more recently connected with the office of public roads at Washington, will join State Engineer Jay W. Bliss' staff Friday. Mr. Kaulfuss has had wide experience in organizing the work of state highway commissions, and in addition to being a practical engineer, he is a good talker and a writer on highway engineering subjects. He will spend much of his time in the field, meeting with county boards and explaining the workings of the new state and federal highway acts.

Home from Meetings.

Assistant State Engineer P. W. Thomas is home from a meeting with commissioners in McKenzie, Wells and Foster counties, where 300 miles of state and federal aid road is projected.

Change Location.

Because as now established much of the Meridian trail through Richland county is not used as a post road, the county commissioners have notified State Engineer Bliss that the location of the road between Wahpeton and the Cass county line has been changed to comply with the federal requirements. The county is also asking for state aid on the Meridian trail from Wahpeton to the South Dakota line, practically all of which is used as a post road. Altogether Richland county has asked for $5,000 in federal aid.

A number of counties are changing the location of roads recommended for state and federal aid, in order that post routes may be included. This action is solving the big difficulty which has confronted the highway commission—that of making the counties' requests and the federal requirements "jibe."

Veteran Engineer.

J. M. Hanson, city engineer of Jamestown and county surveyor for Stutsman, is in the state engineer's office cleaning up some work which he has done for Mr. Bliss in Nelson county. Mr. Hanson formerly was connected with the state engineering staff, and he is a veteran in highway engineering.

FIVE FILE FOR FIRST DISTRICT CONGRESSIONAL

Bangs, Burtess, Vick, Cuthbert
and Baer's Petitions Received Today

Up to 4 o'clock this afternoon the nominating petitions of five congressional candidates in the first district had been filed with Secretary of State Hall. Mr. Hall announced at that hour that he would continue to receive any petitions which were mailed Sunday, the date upon which individual nominations officially closed, according to the opinion of the attorney general.

The last man under the wire today was Frederick T. Cuthbert, republican, of Devils Lake, who filed more than 300 signatures. His entrance on the list of two republican candidates in the official ballot, Judge Vick of Pembina having filed last week. The other candidates are: George A. Bangs, Grand Forks, democrat, and John M. Baer, Fargo, nonpartisan.

Burtess in Late.

Late this afternoon the petitions of Oliver B. Burtess of Grand Forks, running as a republican, were received with sufficient signatures to assure the presence of the third republican on the official ballot. Petitions mailed in by H. H. Aaker to date show but 150 names, insufficient to place his name on the official ballot. Secretary of State Hall is of the opinion that some petitions have been lost in the mail, as Aaker writes as though he were enclosing more than 300 signatures. Aaker requests that his name go on the ballot as a "Nonpartisan-progressive-republican."

At the top are American troops of the medical corps lined up for drill at Blackpool, England, before being sent to the battle front.

In the middle are three American nurses of the United States medical detachment, and an American enlisted man in conversation with British "Tommies."

At the bottom is the first official American flag on the French front, flying over the French tricolor before the aviation camp of the Lafayette squadron, which is composed entirely of American aviators. This flag was presented by Orange City (N. J.) Elks. The American flyer standing beside the fighting machine is Corporal Edward Hinkle of Cincinnati and Minneapolis, a graduate of the Paris Beaux Arts.

HOUSE COMMITTEE APPROVES FOOD BILL

Washington, June 11.—The second administration food control bill, granting broad powers to the president, was agreed to by the house agricultural committee today by a vote of 12 to 7. An immediate report to the house was authorized. Chairman Lever expected it to pass with less than two weeks' debate. The first bill now pending is to stimulate production of food, the second to control distribution, and price.

The bill guarantees a minimum price to producers of non-perishable products under plans projected by the president. The committee dropped the plan for maximum price fixing on the ground that it was unnecessary. A good deal of opposition was expressed to it. The bill appropriates $2,500,000 for purely administrative expenses and $150,000,000 for carrying out all other purposes which would include guarantee of minimum prices, operation of factories, or other plants, and, if necessary, the handling of wheat supplies by the government.

He expects to submit his list of ministers to the king at noon today.

Hanna Says Farmers Are Buying Bonds

Fargo, N. D., June 11.—L. B. Hanna, chairman of the North Dakota executive committee, in charge of the sale of Liberty bonds in this state, returning today from a trip over the state, issued a statement in which he asserted that North Dakota farmers when solicited have responded liberally in purchasing bonds. "I find there have been reports made that the farmers of the northwest are not doing their part," he said. "No report of this character has been given to any one nor to the papers from the executive committee or myself, who have charge of the placing of the bonds in North Dakota. My experience after 40 days' traveling in the state is that the farmers wherever solicited have been very good about coming forward and taking bonds."

Mr. Hanna alludes to the poor crop of last year, and the scattered population of the state, which does not allow for such a general personal approach, as reasons for a probable hesitancy on the part of some farmers taking up new obligations.

SINN FEINERS IN DUBLIN RIOT WOUND POLICE

Dublin, June 11.—Police Inspector Mills was injured fatally last night, while preventing holding of a meeting called to protest against the imprisonment of Irish rebels, and died today. Several Sinn Feiners were arrested. Lieutenant-General Mahon, commander of the British forces in Ireland, had forbidden the meeting, but in spite of his order 2,000 persons gathered opposite Liberty hall. Count Plunkett, member of parliament, and Sinn Feiner, who was arrested in connection with the revolt last spring, and other equally defiant members of the Sinn Feiners attended the meeting with the intention of speaking. Count Plunkett and four others were arrested. While he was taking these men to jail, Inspector Mills was struck with a stick or a stone and knocked down. His assailant has not been arrested.

WITNESSES JAILED; DEFENDANT FREED; PERJURY CHARGED

Men State Depended on in Finlayson Case Show Defective Memories

Frank Finlayson as defendant and William Olson and William Johnson as witnesses for the state changed places in the Finlayson trial on a bootlegging charge this afternoon, when Judge Nussle threw Olson and Johnson into jail for perjury, and directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty in favor of Finlayson.

Olson, Johnson and Jack Farrand are said to have signed affidavits upon which State's Attorney McCurdy depended for conviction. This afternoon on the stand the first two forgot practically everything they had seemed to know about the case when the affidavits were made, and are said to have given testimony so radically different that Judge Nussle ordered them jailed as perjurers and held them under bonds in the sum of $2,000 for their appearance at the next term of court. The court also directed that the prisoners be required to furnish bail in the sum of $1,000 apiece for their appearance in the case of the state versus John Volk, another bootlegging action, and ordered that a bench warrant be issued for Farrand, the third witness, who failed to put in an appearance.

Jury Dismissed.

With the unexpected conclusion of the Finlayson case, the jury for the May term was dismissed. The court now is trying the case of the First National bank of Oakes versus Frank E. Packard, who is chairman of the state tax commission, Beulah Packard and W. C. Taylor, an action brought on a note.

A CRISIS PASSED.

A few anarchists were always in our midst; we also always have a considerable number of recently arrived immigrants who do not at all understand our governmental processes. Take out the disturbance caused by these two elements and the registration for selective service would appear as about the most peaceful operation we ever engaged in nationally.

Our professional anarchists naturally take advantage of any occasion when anybody is dissatisfied with anything in Wisconsin, Michigan and Minnesota are large bodies of aliens who imagined that the registration meant they were to be shipped back to foreign horrors from which they had fled. In the southwestern states are a lot of Mexicans, who are sick of the very word, war. Even our Indian fellow Americans in Arizona got furious over the idea of leaving their comfortable surroundings, and of these these elements of the population will be about the last to be selected for service—an important fact that they did not realize.

Altogether it was a day in which important war business was pushed forward calmly, deliberately and successfully. A good many national elections have witnessed more lawlessness.

If ever any danger of popular outbreak against selective service existed, it has passed, and the authorities directly engaged in carrying out war measures can go ahead with complete confidence.

Having 13 dependent children by his wife now dead and 29 by his present wife, a Connecticut man claimed exemption from selective service. Thirty-three perfectly good reasons ought to be enough to let him out of the fighting. But, when it comes to the paying, we've got this gent dead to rights, by lowering the family man's income tax exemption to $2,000. It is to be presumed that this man, being able to keep 33 children alive, has a $2,000 income.

ARE DOLLARS PATRIOTIC?

The results of the flotation of the $200,000,000 Liberty Loan will show whether the American people are really patriotic when their pocket nerve is affected.

They are not asked to give their money to their country, but to lend it at a very good rate of interest.

And in this call to serve with their savings, Uncle Sam wants to hear from the little fellows just as much as from the big ones. In fact, the more little fellows the better, because it will keep just that many of the multimillionaires from investing their money in something that is not taxable.

We Americans of small means may in this matter, at least, take a leaf out of the German book.

The biggest of the German war loans was issued in September, 1915. It brought in $3,025,000,000. There were 3,966,413 subscribers, of whom 984,358 bought $50 or less, 858,259 bought from $75 to $125; 918,506 bought from $150 to $250, while 952,801 bought from $250 to $1,250.

In other words, 94 per cent of the investors were small investors. And these small investors took $653,000,000 of the loan. That is about 32 per cent of the total German loan and almost 70 per cent of what our government is seeking.

If every American who has saved a little money will be as patriotic as the Germans, the bulk of this loan will go to the men and women who have no great surplus of wealth. And that is exactly where it should go.

The last two weeks have been the best for British shipping since Germany started her great submarine campaign. And in ten weeks England will begin eating this season's crops. If Uncle Sam is on time, England won't starve, so the Kaiser can notice it.

PLAYING CARDS OR BIBLES.

War tends to divert people's minds from normal thought. Superstition has abundant opportunity for development.

British and French soldiers believe if three men light cigarettes from a single match one at least is sure to die soon.

With the number of casualties of the war the chances are that one of any three men will be killed.

The escapes are forgotten and the instances where it has worked out are cited to prove the case.

An appeal for funds from a missonary society concludes, "This New Testament has thus saved a French soldier's life." A picture of the bullet torn booklet accompanies the appeal.

It would probably be fruitless to suggest that a pack of playing cards, banned by the church, might have been equally effective as a shield. Plugs of tobacco have doubtless stopped enemy bullets, and later given the soldiers the consolation of a quid, without stirring the missionary society to supply the army with "chewing."

This appeal for testaments is a worthy effort, but why belaud the effort to save men's souls by bringing in the accidental saving of a man's body? It weakens the appeal.

Step up and enlist, fellows! The laundry work has been arranged for. Already, 690 American-born Chinese have been recruited for army service.

"New York is 10,000 miles nearer heaven than she was this morning," says Billy Sunday, concluding a sermon. She'd better keep on traveling, just the same. We were in New York, one time, and have a pretty fair idea of the distance she's got to go.

In Cleveland, sixth city until Detroit's noses are counted again, price of a haircut has gone to 50 cents. But, after you've had a day of Cleveland soot, you don't care.

Liberty Loan bonds are for those who can afford to invest in them," says one of the loan booster advertisements. This is true enough. Between the investment feature and that of actual devotion to country and sacrifice there are several billions of bonds yet to come. Even failure to fully subscribe to the present issue wouldn't indicate much beside the fact that until Congress gets taxation fixed, a lot of the folks won't know what they can afford.

Alexieff, commander-in-chief of the Russian armies, has resigned. The difficulty about being commander-in-chief of the Russian armies is that you can't tell when you have Russian armies that'll be commanded.

Eat less meat, more corn, rice and barley, advises the American Medical association, in convention assembled. It doesn't mean "business as usual" for doctors, either.

We Americans think that there are none in our class, when it comes to push, but the so-called easy-going Britishers have given us something to stare at. "Somewhere in England" they've put up in three months, a machine gun factory covering nearly three acres and are now turning out a steady stream of guns and 1,000 machines driven by electricity and operated by women. The main building required 1,320 tons of steel, 9,500 panes of glass, and was completed in 40 days. For a fat and heavy fellow, John Bull certainly gets up a lively gait, with a war behind him.

When a young fellow claims exemption on the ground of religious scruples, follow him home and see if his mother doesn't have to take in washing on Sunday.

A Military Family.

"Pardon me, sir, but—" We looked, and recoiled in horror. The stranger was tattered and torn, his teeth were gone, his mouth was bleeding. One arm hung limp, and one foot turned in at an unnatural angle. His left eye was entirely closed, and above it was the indentation plainly indicative of "some blunt instrument." "Well?" we parried, recovering. "Can you direct me to a recruiting office?" he asked. "Gladly, but they're not enlisting derel—that is, the physical exam—" "Yes, I know, but I'll be all right in a few weeks," he said. "You see, I took refuge in matrimony to escape military carnage last night. And I have just discovered that my wife is a naval recruit, and she has just discovered my motive in being married." —Kansas City Star.

NORTHCLIFFE, ENGLAND'S AMERICAN!

Lord Northcliffe

Washington, D. C., June 11.—Popular and powerful as Arthur Balfour has been in welding the war spirit of England and America, as head of the British mission, Great Britain is replacing him with even a stronger and more popular influence toward more spirited American participation in the war.

England sends Lord Northcliffe to America because he is the most suitable man for the job. He is the most American of all Englishmen, a Napoleon in his actions, a genius in foresight, the man of destiny who, according to the late Count Tolstoy, is to end the war.

America welcomed Lord Northcliffe in 1909 as England's greatest newspaper man. He was known then as the millionaire owner of some 45 newspapers in Great Britain, who revolutionized English journalism by his American methods, who was despised for his radical tactics and envied for his remarkable genius and foresight.

Now Lord Northcliffe comes as the greatest man in England, who opened England's eyes by his revelations of her military inefficiency at the beginning of the war, hammered at the truth until he caused a complete change in the government for the better, and is setting action for his democratic demands of the British government.

This human dynamo is 52 years young. He was plain Alfred Harmsworth when, at 20, he left Oxford and started as a $15-a-week reporter. Ten years later he owned more magazines and newspapers than any other man in the world.

Nobility, of course, would not read Northcliffe's productions. They were too radical, too lively, too democratic. But their owner pushed them along on the American plan at the risk of being the most despised man in England.

He came out the most envied Englishman and most successful. The public bought his papers to burn, but read them before destroying them. He bought the Mail and "Americanized" it. He amazed the world by buying the London Times, that staid, conservative "Bible" of British journalism.

With his two-score newspapers, Lord Northcliffe hammered at British inefficiency, at the inactivity of the Asquith ministry, until at last he turned public opinion his way, and caused a change in the administration of the war which diplomats believe is for the better.

Lloyd George, Lord Northcliffe's man, the small British war council is Lord Northcliffe's idea. Both are doing their utmost to make up for the slowness of the former administration in prosecuting the war.

Lord Northcliffe is behind both the English people back him with supreme confidence. Having won the English people to a greater spirit of fighting the war, of democracy, he comes to America to put the work of his predecessor on a firmer basis.

Three Great Jewish Feasts. There were three great Jewish feasts which lasted seven days, and between the first and second were seven weeks. The levitical purification lasted seven days.

TOWNLEY WOULD GO TO CALLOWS, HE TELLS CROWD

Non-Partisan League Head Poses

As Martyr as Result of Liberty Loan Attack

NOW FAVORS PAYING AS YOU GO—CHANGES MIND

Doesn't Believe in Bonds as He Did When Governor Frazier

Vetoed S. B. 34

That if need be he will sing his hymn of hate from the gallows in an effort to do all in his power to defeat the Liberty Loan was the sense of a challenge which A. C. Townley, president of the Nonpartisan League, hurled in the teeth of Theodore Weld, president of the Ninth reserve bank, at the league's Jamestown meeting Saturday.

Townley's Demands "We demand here and now and all the time, and we will continue to demand from this platform, from this roadside, from the 'house-top,' from the country, if need be, from the federal penitentiary, or even from the gallows—for if you are to make that sacrifice I can make any sacrifice, and I am not afraid—we will demand that this nation or the rulers of this nation, fearing now not so much for us and our country as for yourselves, you rulers of this nation, using this war now to multiply your millions of war profits; we demand of you, strains of the autocracy of Germany, strains of the autocracy of Europe, if you fear that autocracy may come across the waters and rob you of your power to rob us; if you are afraid and you want us to go to war and give our lives, we say to you that you must send proof to us that you are sincere. You must make this arrangement, that when we give our lives, all that we have, this nation will take the first of your profits and then of the property you have got, if the profit is not enough; and after the war is over we will give back, as you will give back, of our lives, as much as is left, and no more."

Townley is shrewd enough to realize the advantage of martyrdom. Townley, the martyr, the leader, seems to think, will appeal to North Dakota farmers where Townley, the czar, has failed. If Townley could contrive to get himself arrested and sent to Leavenworth he no doubt would feel that he had accomplished more for his cause than he could expect to gain in a year's ordinary organization work.

Nonpartisan league reports of the meeting at Jamestown on Saturday indicate that resolutions were adopted by "farmers of Butte and adjoining counties," standing back of President Townley and specifically mentioning alleged profits of the United States Steel corporation, the DuPont Powder Co. and "thousands of other corporations and individuals" whose war profits, league leaders say, have shown an increase of "more than 1,000 per cent."

Purported Resolutions "We are unalterably opposed," say these purported resolutions, "to permitting stockholders of private corporations to pocket these enormous profits, while at the same time a species of coercion is encouraged toward already poorly paid employees of both sexes, in urging them to purchase government bonds to help finance the war." To conscript men and exempt the blood-stained wealth coined from the sufferings of humanity is repugnant to the spirit of America."

For the first time in his present speech-making campaign, Townley defended conscription: "I believe so thoroughly in conscription of life in time of war that I believe the age limit should be raised to take in all those that advocate war but do not go. In time of national crisis and necessity it is the only measure and the only way to raise an army. To try to raise it by volunteer system is insanity. Only by conscription can you get the best for war."

Has Changed Mind "They say I oppose the sale of bonds," said Townley. "I do not. But if there is another and better way, we have a right to propose that better way. If a man can pay as he goes, that's sound business, and he ought to pay."

It was because Senate Bill 34, appropriating $300,000 for the building of terminals, elevators within or without North Dakota proposed this "better way" of "paying as you go" that it was vetoed by Governor Frazier, after league members of both houses had assisted in its passage. It was because House Bill 44, the league's proposed new constitution, proposed unlimited bond issues for the financing of state-owned enterprises, in lieu of "paying as you go," that the conservative element of the senate voted down that measure. And because of these two facts, Townley, who believes "paying as you go sound business" and Governor Frazier, during the present speaking campaign, have glorified the governor's veto of the equity's terminal elevator bill and have scarified unmercifully the "stand pat" senators who defeated the league's unlimited bonding proposition.

The stewards spoke with professional encouragement. "Oh, you're all right," she remonstrated. "Here's the gentleman now, he'll help you." Someone lifted her, and in a moment she was on deck and in her chair.

"Perhaps you would like yesterday's paper?" said a voice.

The man in the next chair leaned toward her, holding a paper in his hand.

"I am ill," she answered.

He did not reply, and in a moment his glance wandered to the card upon her chair. "Odd, isn't it," he questioned.

She followed his gaze and colored faintly. The card read, "Mrs. L. Smith." "When he pointed to a similar rough scrawl, the name 'L. Smith'."

"It is a very common name," she remarked absently.

He laughed. "Very," he admitted. "Perhaps your husband is Lawrence Smith also?"

The smile passed from her lips. "My husband is dead," she answered, "but his name was Lucien."

For a time they sat silent. Then, as the luncheon gong sounded he rose. "You will have chicken broth," he said distinctly.

A little later the broth was brought. That evening they lay side by side in their steamer chairs. His was gazing out to sea, where the water broke into waves of deepening gray. Suddenly he spoke, his voice rising like a jarring discord in a harmonious whole.

"Five days ago a man called me a devil," he said, "and I guess he wasn't far wrong, only if I was a single devil he was a legion steeped in one. What a scoundrel he was!"

The passion in his tones caused her to start quickly. The words were shot out with the force of balls from a cannon. "Don't," she said pleadingly.

"Don't what?" he demanded roughly. "Don't eff the blackest scoundrel that ever lived—and died?"

"Don't curse anybody," she answered. "It is not like you."

"I never had much use for belief," he returned. "It is a poor sort of thing."

She met his bitter gaze with one of level calm. "And yet men have suffered death for it."

"Well, believe in me if you choose," he said.

"How about your faith?" he inquired one day after a passing tenderness. "Is it still the evidence of virtues not visible in me?"

She flinched, as she always did at his flippancy. "That is not kind of you," she said.

"But my dear lady, I am not kind." Her mouth quivered.

"Do you mean to say," he asked, adjusting the rug about her shoulders, "that it makes any difference to you?"

The fragment of a sob broke from her. "Of course it makes a difference," she answered.

His face was very grave. The hand upon her shoulder trembled. "I hope it does not make a difference," he said. "Look! There is a sail!"

They rose and went to the railing, following with straining eyes a white sail that skirted the horizon.

He leaned nearer. His hand brushed hers as it lay upon the railing.

"Did love make you happy?" She raised her lashes. "Love?"

"That husband of yours," he explained almost harshly, "did you love him?"

"He was very good to me," she replied. Then she hesitated. "But I did not love him in the way you mean. I know now that I did not."

He bent toward her swiftly, then checked himself with a sneering laugh. "I'll give you a piece of valuable advice," he said. "Don't allow yourself to grow sentimental. It is awful rot."

And he threw himself into his chair. He drew a notebook from his pocket and when she seated herself he did not look up.

An hour later their glances met.

"When you love, love a virtuous, straightway plodder," he said. "Love

A Honeymoon

She was leaning against the railing gazing wistfully down upon the sea of faces on the landing. Despite her thirty years there was something girlish in her shrinking figure—a suggestion of the implicit emotions of youth. She descended to her stateroom. At the door she found the stewardess, who inquired if she was Mrs. L. Smith.

"That is my name, and I am going to be ill."

"Lie down at once. And about this bag? I thought it would give you more space if I put it in the gentleman's room."

Lucy Smith looked up in mystification. "But it is mine," she explained, "and I want it."

The next day, she struggled up and left her stateroom, the stewardess following with her wraps. At the foot of the stairs she swayed and fell upon the lowest step. "It's no use," she said, plaintively. "I can't go up—I can't, indeed."

The stewardess spoke with professional encouragement. "Oh, you're all right," she remonstrated. "Here's the gentleman now, he'll help you."

Someone lifted her, and in a moment she was on deck and in her chair.

Monday Club Luncheon Closes Successful Year of Work

The annual luncheon of the Monday club was a charmingly appointed affair Saturday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. F. A. Lahr in Avenue B. Mrs. Lahr and Mrs. E. E. Jones were hostesses to the club members and a limited number of friends.

Clusters of white lilacs were used in the lower rooms, while white roses centered the five small tables used for the luncheon and the bridge game. The color note was in green and white, the club's colors, and featured the place and tally cards and the confectations.

This annual affair is the occasion for the new officers to assume work for the 1917-18 season. The new president, Mrs. A. A. Bruce, was unable to be present on account of illness and a recent bereavement in her family. The other officers are: Mrs. T. R. Atkinson, vice president; Mrs. R. S. Towne, secretary, and Mrs. J. A.

Haney, treasurer. Mrs. F. A. Lahr is the retiring president.

Covers were laid for Mrs. Atkinson, Mrs. H. R. Berndt, Mrs. W. H. Bodensat, Mrs. S. W. Corwin, Mrs. G. F. Dullam, Mrs. H. P. Goddard, Mrs. Haney, Mrs. F. A. Knowles, Mrs. W. E. Lahr, Mrs. R. W. Towne, Mrs. C. C. Wattam, Miss Matilda Williams, members of the club, and Mrs. J. H. Newton of Mandan, associate member; Mrs. Goddard, Mrs. Dennis, mother of Mrs. Dullam; Mrs. J. L. Whitney, Mrs. E. V. Lahr, Miss Sara Andrews, Mrs. Burt Finney and Mrs. S. F. Hollingsworth, and the hostesses.

Mrs. Lahr and Mrs. Jones were assisted by Mrs. A. P. Lenhart, Miss Lucille Lahr and Miss Gwendolyn Jones, young daughters of the hostesses.

The club has voted to meet fortnightly during the summer, to sew for the Red Cross.

Nurses' Home Dedicated Before Large Crowds

The handsome, nurses' home of the Bismarck Evangelical hospital was formally dedicated Sunday afternoon, with appropriate services. An account of the wind, the services were held in the large dining room, which was filled to capacity with prominent ministers of the Evangelical association, physicians and residents of the capital city and vicinity.

Bishop S. P. Spreng, D. D., of Naperville, Ill., was the principal speaker and delivered the dedicatory address. He spoke largely of the rapid growth of the institution and the splendid support given it by the city and community at large. He also touched on the humanitarian side of hospital plays in the world.

He was followed by Lynn J. Frazier, G. N. Keniston, secretary of the Commercial club, and Attorney General William Langer. They also spoke on the important place a hospital occupies in a community. Mr. Keniston's talk was featured with an interesting word picture of what the institution means to humanity.

The Elks' band furnished a splendid program of musical numbers throughout the afternoon.

Baccalaureate Sermon.

The dedicatory services were followed by the baccalaureate sermon Sunday evening in the Evangelical church. Bishop Spreng preached the sermon to the eleven graduates, who will receive diplomas Tuesday evening at the annual commencement exercises in the Evangelical church. A reception will follow the graduation exercises in the new home and an invitation has been extended to the public to attend.

Reception Saturday.

Many friends of the institution attended the reception Saturday afternoon and evening in the new home. The large reception room on the second floor was especially appointed for this occasion, with clusters of American Beauty roses and other flowers. Rev. and Mrs. William Suckow, the former the newly elected superintendent of the hospital; Miss Louise Hoermann, assistant superintendent, and Mrs. E. P. Quain.

Among the out of town people here for the exercises are: Rev. C. Zech, superintendent of the Fargo district; Rev. M. O. Selwert, Billings, Mont.; Rev. R. Tammen of Parker, S. D., and

S. Becker, a prominent merchant of Scotland, S. D.

The new home is a handsome structure of four stories, with three large sleeping porches, extending along the west, and a large storage room leading off of the basement.

Every detail of the large building is complete. On the second floor is the large reception room, the superintendent of nurses' quarters, with office and rooms for the nurses. The reception room was furnished by A. W. Lucas Co. and is elaborate.

The furnishings are in green wicker, upholstered in tapestry. The handsome set contains chairs, two rockers, a settee, writing desk, center table and fern box. Two beautiful rugs complete this magnificent gift.

A piano also adorns the room. A handsome picture, "Printemps d'Amour," was donated by G. W. Cochran of the Kimball Piano company.

The large sun parlor on the third floor, which connects the home with the main building, was furnished in green wicker, by Webb Brothers.

Five rockers, two chairs and couch all upholstered in cretonne, writing desk, telephone stand, center table, and two fern stands make up the set. Beautiful rugs are also included in this gift.

The obstetrical department is located on the third floor and is equipped with the latest furnishings. Most of the rooms have been furnished by individuals. Col. C. B. Little, J. Leonard Bell, Mr. and Mrs. Burt Finney, Rev. and Mrs. F. L. Watkins, Buel and Marian Quin, Miss Lydia Grose, Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Menges and the ladies of the Evangelical church are among the donors. The special rooms of this department contain the latest equipment and are all finished in white enamel, with white drapings.

The first, or basement, floor contains the class rooms and demonstration rooms, together with rooms for the help. The second and fourth rooms are for the nurses. A large kitchen on the second floor is one of the special departments and it is up to date in every particular. In all, it contains 75 rooms.

The old kitchen has been transformed into a special dietary kitchen, where food for the patients is prepared. Miss Hoermann made an all study last summer of the kitchens of the largest hospitals in Denver, Colo. and as a result has been able to equip it to give the most efficient service.

Rev. Menges Leaves Fargo for Milbank

Rev. W. C. Menges preached his farewell sermon to Fargo Evangelical congregation Sunday and will leave this week for Milbank, S. D., to assume the pastorate of the church at that place. He succeeds Rev. A. C. Bremer, who was recently appointed superintendent of the Bismarck district.

Rev. Mr. Menges was formerly president of the Bismarck hospital and is very well known in this city.

Twelve Year Old Girl Memorizes 25 Bible Verses

Little Florence, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson of Sixth street, holds the distinction of memorizing 25 chapters of the Bible. This great accomplishment for one so young has attracted much attention among the Sunday school workers of the Presbyterian church, where Miss Florence attends.

During the Children's day exercises Sunday morning she repeated from memory the 100th psalm.

Miss Florence will contest for first place at the annual state Sunday school convention in Fargo, which will be held the week of June 20.

Most interesting programs were given at the Children's day exercises at both the McCabe Methodist and Presbyterian churches Sunday morning. Songs and recitations were given by pupils from the primary and junior departments.

Church Society Program.

The Woman's Foreign Missionary society of the McCabe Methodist Episcopal church will meet with Mrs. J. M. Taylor, 615 Seventh street, Tuesday afternoon, at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Henry Gates will be the leader. The following program has been arranged:

Devotions—"Promises of Peace"—Mrs. Henry Gates.
Paper—"Until Now"; A Resume—Mrs. J. G. Moore.
Paper—"Experiments in Peace"—Mrs. A. S. Hoffman.
Paper—"Peace Movements and Treaties"—Mrs. George Wallace.
Paper—"Peace Militant"
Paper—"A Medical College For Chinese Women"—Mrs. Dingle.
Paper—"The Call to Action"
Story—"The Building of an Empire"—Mrs. F. H. Register.

AL JOLSON TROUPE ARRIVES--BIGGEST HERE FOR SEASON

The big troupe with which Al Jolson has surrounded himself in "Robinson Crusoe, Jr." is the attraction for this evening at the Auditorium, arrived at noon today from a successful run in the Twin Cities and other centers to the east. The company is one of the largest which ever has favored Bismarck with a call. The house is practically sold out, and capacity is predicted for this evening.

Tough on Jurors—Jurors serving at this term of district court are bewailing the fact that court did not convene two months later. The jurors will complete their service just before the new law passed by the last legislature boosting jurors' fees from $3 to $4 per day goes into effect. The new rate will mean a difference of $10 to $15 dollars for each juror at every term of court.

To Des Moines—Capt. Ben F. Ristine, U. S. A., for the last three months attached to the North Dakota National Guard as inspector-instructor, has been ordered to Fort Des Moines, Ia., as instructor in the officers' reserve corps camp, which will open for the training of reserve officers June 19.

Buying Up Flax—Agents are reported to be scouring central North Dakota, buying up flax crops for fall delivery. In the Red River valley a similar effort is being made, it is said, to corner the potato crop. Farmers generally believe this means certainty on the part of the speculators that prices for flax and potatoes will be even higher in the fall, and no large number is said to have signed contracts.

Dies in Local Hospital—Mrs. Slater, aged 33, wife of O. H. Slater of Mott, died Sunday evening, at 7 o'clock, in one of the local hospitals. Besides the husband, four children survive. The body will be taken to Mott, where funeral services will be held and interment made.

Civic League Meeting.
An important meeting of the Civic league will be held Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock in the Commercial club rooms. All members are asked to attend on account of important business matters which will be considered at that time.

LET PERFUME TELL YOUR PERSONALITY

New York, June 11.—"No woman should use a perfume that does not express her personality," says Peggy Wood, the stage star.

"When a discriminating woman buys a dress," says Miss Wood, "she selects one most becoming to her. So it is with perfume. I have been making a study of type of women and perfumes they ought to use to express their distinctive personalities.

"A woman should classify herself according to her beauty—whether she belongs to the rose or violet type or some other. A jack rose woman is

DIES IN LOCAL HOSPITAL.
Frank Wendell of Avenue C, aged 33, died in one of the local hospitals this morning at 7:30, after a short illness. Mr. Wendell is survived by the widow.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning and interment will be made in St. Mary's cemetery.

DUSTIN FARNUM.
Old and crooked legged, bent and broken-eyed, the pitiful figure of the broken down mining town inebriate, in "The Parson of Panamint," stumbles in his distressing delirium, reaching blindly for support, he brushes against a Mexican, who savagely throws the poor wretch to one side and passes on. Painfully ludicrous are the feeble drunkard's struggles to prevent his collapse and as the spectator's sympathies are aroused, the parson is seen coming down the street. There is no hesitation in the parson's manner when he sees the sufferer and the call of the distressed Gentle but strong hands lift the fallen one. Through his drink-crazed mind passes the understanding that here is a true friend, and in one upward questioning look to the noble face above him is expressed the thanks—that cannot be expressed in words. This Pallas Paramount photoplay coming to the Bismarck theater tonight is filled with scenes of heart interest and the big realities of life.

Has Victoria Cross.

Lord Charles Beresford's winning the Victoria Cross was a famous incident. The Zulus had led a detachment of the British, under Sir Redvers Buller, into an ambush, whence several thousands of them rose out of the long grass and made ready to attack. Buller gave the order to retreat, and as the men galloped off two were killed and one wounded—his horse letting the last fall. The poor fellow, Fitzmaurice by name, was at the mercy of the advancing horde of savages when Beresford galloped up and tried to lift him on his horse. The Zulus were close on them, and it seemed impossible to get away that Fitzmaurice begged him to go. Yet Beresford actually got the man, fainting from loss of blood, on his frightened and rearing mount, and rode away with him. That night as he was sleeping the sleep of exhaustion from his hard day, Archibald Forbes approached his tent with the news that he had been recommended for the Cross, and waking Beresford, had a boot thrown at his head for his pains.

Divide Soaked Clothes.

To soak or not to soak clothes is a disputed question. The object of soaking is to expose the clothes to the solvent action of water so that some of the dirt will be dissolved out and the labor of the laundress be lessened. But sometimes the dirt gets distributed through the cleaner parts of the clothing during prolonged soaking, and a general grayishness is the result. On this account many housewives soak their clothes for only an hour or two, even half an hour. Ideal conditions prescribe the soaking of table linen, slightly soiled towels, etc., in one tub, body and bed linen in another, and the more soiled articles of all kinds in another. If only two tubs are available, the soiled articles can be soaked in one tub and the dirty ones in another, the process being omitted for the table linen, since fastidious housekeepers object to mingling this with body linen in the early stages of laundry work. Heavily starched pieces should not be soaked with unstarched articles.

QUEER CAPERS CUT BY STORM; RAIN HELPFUL

be ready to resume operations this evening.

Rain Was General.

During the past 48 hours, rain fell in all sections east of the middle Mississippi valley, but it is now ended, reports O. W. Roberts. Moderate to heavy falls, with more than one inch at several places, were reported from Indiana and Ohio. There was also rain over Minnesota and the upper Missouri valley, extending westward over the Dakotas and Montana. The falls were moderate to heavy over the greater portion of this area.

There was a hot wave over the Southwest and temperatures exceeding 100 degrees were recorded Sunday at several points. Temperatures are more seasonable over eastern and central sections, but another cool wave is overspreading the Northwest.

Rain in Valley Today.

Grand Forks, N. D., June 11.—Grand Forks' much belated rain came this morning in a steady downpour which lasted all forenoon, proving of inestimable benefit to crops, which had begun to suffer from continued dry weather.

Fargo Gets Moisture.
Fargo, N. D., June 11.—At noon today Fargo and vicinity were visited by a heavy downpour. By early afternoon a half inch of rain had fallen, putting the valley's moisture problem "on ice" for the present.

Mothers
Read Too

We are preparing a special line of goods for the boys. We like boys, in fact we were boys once and still remain boys, and we want to please them.

We want boys and boy's mothers to come in and tell us what they want for the comfort and happiness of the boys for the summer. We are ordering a line of boys goods from the wholesale houses and we will give any boy a discount of ten per cent on his first order if he will clip and bring us this notice and tell us what a boy wants. Better yet we will give him 25c extra if he brings his mother along to tell us what she would like for her boys and the 10 per cent discount on all cash purchase in the first order from this notice.

We want the boys to read our ads and we are going to make it worth while for them to read every one for the next two months

Ex-Bench Warmer, Now Wizard Hurler
Won't Allow Opponents One Run a Game

Ferd Schupp and his fingers, which hold opponents to less than a run a game; left position in throwing slow ball, right position in throwing curve

By PAUL PURMAN.

A bench warmer is the star of the National league.

After wearing out more trousers than shoes for three years on the bench in the Giants' dugout, Ferd Schupp has come into his own and promises a career that no southpaw of today, with the possible exception of Babe Ruth, can expect to duplicate.

McGraw was not departing from any precedents when he refused to permit Schupp to start a game.

Rube Marquard, purchased from Indianapolis at a then fabulous price, was permitted to grace the bench for two seasons after his first disastrous start before he was allowed to go out and "do his bit."

Prior to last summer Schupp had been seen occasionally, pitching when a game was hopelessly or certainly won.

Last summer, however, Schupp showed a reversal of form. He developed control. He had found his fast-breaking curves. Then McGraw sent him to the mound.

In the drive for 26 consecutive victories he won six games.

His 1916 record showed him win-ning nine and losing six games, with a record-breaking earned run average of .30 per game.

"He will not last," many critics de-clared, when the Giants went to Mar-lin this spring.

But Schupp did last, lasted far bet-ter than even his teammates expected.

This year he has won six straight games and lost none and has allowed .32 earned runs to each game.

In the six games he has struck out 43 opposing batsmen, given 16 bases on balls and allowed 41 hits.

BOBBS' WITS WERE NIMBLE

But So Was His Money and He Had to Do Some Quick Thinking to Get Out of a Bad Fix.

Bobbs was a quick-witted chap.
Only one other possession of his was as nimble as that wit of his, and that was his money. He was always broke, and always reckless withal. He took a cab once, being a bit unsteady, to convey him from his home to a cool night air blowing through the open windows sobered him enough to permit of his realizing that he had not money to pay the cabman's fare, says
London Tit-Bits.

Just at that moment the driver made
that very usual inquiry:

"What address did you say, sir?"

And Bobbs said, promptly, "Doctor
So-and-So," such a street and number,
the cabs being round the corner from his own abode. The house reached, Bobbs dashed up the steps, rang the bell furiously, implored the doctor to go at once with his instruments to such and such a house, the lady being in a dying condition from an accident.

A cab was at the door, and would the doctor take the cab? The doctor would. Bobbs huddled him in, gave the driver an address, and then started off to telegraph to the lady's brother.
Of course Bobbs went home round the corner, and of course the cabman searched in vain for the number, and of course the doctor—well, what could he do?

SURVIVAL OF THE FLEETEST

Ability of Hog to Outrun Darky Gets Razorback Blue Ribbon in Southern Swine Exhibit.

An ex-governor of Georgia, and ex officio an expert on hogs, was invited to judge the swine at an Indiana county fair. He looked over the pens, and the choice narrowed down to two hogs,
one a magnificent animal of the Indiana corn-fed variety, of tremendous weight, and the other a lean and rangy specimen, whose pedigree must have embraced a large number of razorbacks. The governor, after an appropriate judicial interval, pinned the blue ribbon on the rangy one. A friend nudged his elbow.

"Governor," he said, "there's been some mistake. Look at the weight of that other hog."

"Son," returned the governor, "down in Georgia we've got different ideas about judgin' a hog. The ability of the hog to outrun a darky counts just six points. The razorback keeps that ribbon, sah."

Air Revolves With Earth.

"A balloon is sent up at New York city on an absolutely calm day, remains in the air for one hour, drifting in the moderate currents of the upper air, and descending a few miles from the place from which it was sent up.
How is it that the place of descent is not some spot adjacent to Chicago, if the theory of the earth's revolution is correct?" This problem was propounded in a letter to the Scientific American, and received this answer: The simple answer to your inquiry is that the air is part of the earth and rotates with it just as the water does. "If it did not there would be a tremendous wind from the east of nearly 1,000 miles an hour at the equator, and about 550 miles in our latitude. This is apparent if you recall the wind which is felt when going swiftly through still air on a car.
The air is held upon the earth by gravity and constitutes a part of the revolving globe in a very real sense."

Valuable Criticism.

The author of Children of the Dead End, Mr. Patrick MacGill, who is now serving at the front, received a striking reminder that "a prophet is not without honor save in his own country" when he took advantage of a week's leave to visit his native village in the west of Ireland.

The villagers, with all of whom he had been acquainted from boyhood, now looked at him askance. He had written a bad book, he was told, and it followed, therefore, that he must be a bad man.

"Then you don't like my book?" Mr.
MacGill asked one of them.

"Like it?" was the indignant reply, according to the Tatler. "I wouldn't read it for a hundred pounds, money down!"—Youth's Companion.

mets used by the allied troops as a

RICE GIVES POINTERS ON HOW TO STRENGTHEN LEG MUSCLES

By JIM RICE.

(Famous Coach of the Columbia Crew and Physical Advisor for Daily Tribune Readers.)

Here is a first rate exercise for the muscles of the thighs and the lower part of the body.

Stand erect with the hands on the hips. Raise the right leg in front as high as you can, bending the knee.
Hold the right foot there five seconds; then drop it; then raise it again, fully six times.

Then do the same thing with the left foot. This calls at once on the muscles across the abdomen, aiding the stomach and other vital organs there directly in their work. Here is another:

Raise the foot behind as high as the knee; then return it to the floor, and so continue giving each foot equal work to do. The under thigh, hip and loin are now in action; and when later on they become strong, their owner will find how much easier it is to run than it used to be, and also that it has become more natural to stand erect.

It will be observed that there is nothing severe or violent in any of these exercises that I have been suggesting—nothing that old or young may not take with like advantage.

Why whole idea is to point out a plain and simple plan of exercise, which, followed up faithfully, will make sound health almost certain.

comparatively low velocity of these leaden balls which are sprayed out when the shell bursts over the trenches; the soft lead of the bullets flattens against the steel with little effect. The Canadian inventor, as told in the Scientific American, has devised jackets for shrapnel bullets, either of steel or copper nickel, which give them greater penetrating power.

First Australian Sheep.

Australian wool, on which has been built up much of that British colony's prosperity, started more than one hundred years ago. It originated with a certain Captain MacArthur, a soldier in the British army. Settling in New South Wales, soon after Governor Phillip arrived there, he saw the possibilities for growing fine wool, and by the luckiest accident was able to 1798 to import five merino ewes and three rams. They were of a flock presented by the king of Spain to the Dutch at the cape, and came from the famous Secular flock. These, judicially added to by MacArthur, were the beginning of the vast Australian sheep industry of today. The first shipment of Australian wool was 24 pounds in 1807; now the shipments run into hundreds of millions of pounds.—Indianapolis News.

A City of Distances.

Mesa, Ariz., streets are 80 feet wide,
and every block comprises ten acres.
A residence building site there averages about an acre. When you ask an address in Mesa and the obliging inhabitant directs you to walk six blocks, it doesn't sound far, but you realize the distance before you arrive, says the El Paso Herald. Mesa was laid out by Mormons who favored unusually wide streets for attractiveness and who made the ten-acre blocks in order that every family might be more or less self-sustaining in time of Indian raids when the family garden might be the only source of food.

Found Way to Gamble.

Once upon a time they published an order prohibiting gambling in Sing Sing. Two inmates were seen exchanging token money and they were haunted to the court.

"What's the charge," asked the judge.

"Alleged gambling," said the deputy.

"I thought all the cards, dice gambling paraphernalia and such were destroyed."

"They were," answered the deputy
"but these two fellows were bettin' on whether it will rain today or not."— Star of Hope.

Hunting.

"Our grandfathers hunted elk and buffalo until there were none; our fathers pursued antelope and mountain sheep until they were shot out; this generation is hunting deer and birds from automobiles. What will the next generation hunt?" asks William T.
Hornaday, director of the New York
Biological park.

SPECIAL COMMISSION MEETING.

June 8, 1917.

At a special meeting of the City Commission called on account, and for the purpose of acting upon the proposed extension of Rossar Street west from the east line of the Northern Pacific Railway right of way to the high water mark of the Missouri River and of River Street 5, Township 138, Range 80, to the Missouri River, it was decided to try and buy this land from Isaac P. Baker, providing that Mr. J. J. Jackman would give a warranty deed for his interest in the same. All Commissioners were present at this meeting and upon roll call of the above resolution voted as follows: Ayes, President Lucas, Commissioners Battey, Bertsch and Kirk; Nays, Best. On motion the meeting adjourned, to meet again Saturday,
June 9, 1917, at 11:00 a. m.
C. L. BURTON,
City Auditor.

COMMISSION MEETING.

June 4, 1917.

The City Commissioners met in regular session. President Lucas and Commissioners Battey, Bertsch, Best and Kirk.

Commissioner Battey introduced a resolution requiring that 10 per cent of the cost of paving, and no more,
be paid by general taxation of all taxable property in the city. This resolution was adopted on roll call.
Ayes: Battey, Bertsch, Kirk and Lucas; Nays, Best. The Studebaker Corporation of America was awarded the contract for the street flusher, as they were able to make early delivery. Commissioner Kirk introduced a sidewalk resolution, deeming it necessary, and ordering that sidewalk be constructed in front of lots 13 to 24, in Block 77, Williams' Addition to the City of Bismarck, N. D. This resolution was adopted. Commissioner Best introduced resolutions deeming
it necessary and ordering the City Engineer to prepare plans and specifications and estimate of cost, and accepting said plans and instructing the Auditor to advertise for bids on a lateral sewer on Avenue A from Raymond Street to Hannafin Street.
These resolutions were adopted, all five commissioners voting in favor of the same. Frank Howe's application for a ferry license was referred to the City Auditor. The petition for extension of sewer on Broadway to 15th Street, thence north to Avenue
B, was found by Commissioner Best to be sufficient and the City Engineer was instructed to prepare plans and specifications for the same. The following bills were allowed and ordered to be paid, funds permitting: Hamilton & Oakes, $24.57; T. R. Atkinson,
$1,000; Wm. Fagerstrom, $37.65; Mrs.
W. A. Cleveland, $15.25; Wachter Dry and Transfer Company, $183.30 and $162.05; Western Union, $25.35; Frank-for unloading, the location in all cases at which cars are to be placed to be named by the superintendent of the institution.

All coal must be delivered as ordered, in sufficient quantity to supply the wants of the institution, and a reserve supply of coal sufficient to meet the requirements of each institution for a period of not less than three weeks, shall be provided at all times. Railway company's weights at points nearest each institution will govern.

The quantity of coal on which bids are asked may be increased or diminished at the will of the superintendent and the board reserves the right, at any time to change the grade of coal by paying the price stated in the bid for the grade used.

Bids for coal are requested for the different grades, the several chief executives of the respective institutions to order the grade desired.

Each bidder must specify the mine or mines the coal he proposes to furnish comes from and must furnish an analysis of every grade of coal on which a bid is submitted; showing per cent of moisture, per cent of volatile matter, per cent of fixed carbon, per cent of sulphur, per cent of ash, per cent of clinkers, and also state its calorific value in B. T. U.

The right is reserved to reject any or all proposals and a sufficient bond will be required from all successful bidders to insure the faithful performance of the contract.

Specifications of the kind and quantity of coal will be furnished by this board of application.

Payment will be made each month by check drawn by the treasurer of the state for coal furnished for the preceding month.

Approximate amount of coal wanted at each institution is as follows: Reform school at Mandan, 1,999 tons; Penitentiary at Bismarck, 11,000 tons; Deaf school at Devils Lake, 1,400 tons; Institution for Feeble Minded at Grafton, 4,000 tons; School for the Blind, at Bismarck, 600 tons; Hospital for the Insane at Jamestown, 1,200 tons; Tuberculosis Sanatorium, at Dunseith, 1,000 tons; and the State Capitol at Bismarck, 1,800 tons. Specifications will be furnished on application by this office.

Envelopes must be endorsed "Proposals for Coal" and addressed to the undersigned, Bismarck, N. D.

TODAY LAST DAY FOR SLACKERS TO GET UNDER COVER

Provost Marshal Crowder Advises
Adjutant General Arrests
Must Be Made

PENAL CLAUSES TO BE VIGOROUSLY ENFORCED

This is the last day of grace for the slackers.

All non-registrants of the specified ages found in North Dakota tomorrow will be picked up by order of Provost Marshal Crowder of Washington, D. C., and reported to the nearest office of the department of justice.

Crowder, in a telegram to Adjutant General Tharalson today, says: "The period of leniency has now passed. Attention is invited to paragraph 16 of the regulations. It is requested that every effort be made to detect and arrest persons subject to registration who have not registered, and to bring each case promptly to the attention of the nearest representative of the department of justice. Care should be taken that the lists prescribed in paragraph 59 are promptly posted, and all registrants should be asked to assist in bringing non-registrants to the attention of the police."

To Compare Reports.
"Summarization reports of registration of the various boards should be compared with estimates of the census bureau, and an effort should be concentrated on those districts where discrepancy between registration and estimates seems greatest. In case of doubt as to age of persons who have not registered, tabulated records of political organizations and other local records should be consulted, and data may be obtained from the bureau of census."

"The purpose of this telegram is to inaugurate from tomorrow (Monday) a vigorous, aggressive and effective enforcement of the penal clauses of the selective service law against all who have by their failure or refusal to register brought themselves under these provisions. The department of justice is sending today similar advice to United States attorneys and marshals."

Duty of Officers.
Under paragraph 16 of the registration regulations, "It is especially made the duty of police officers to see that all male persons within the designated ages have registered, and to report those who have not registered to the proper registration board for such action as may be necessary. Police officers may require any persons subject to registration to exhibit his registration certificate."

Six Counties Out.
Only Ramsey and Oliver counties have reported since The Tribune's last tabulation at noon Saturday. Oliver shows 255 citizens and friendly aliens citing possible exemptions; 647 of all citizens and friendly aliens; 21 other aliens and five enemy aliens. Ramsey county reports 564, 1,319, 262 and 10 respectively in the above divisions, with eight negroes. The total registration is located to 58,167, with six counties—Eddy, McHenry, Pembina, Mercer, Stark and Williams—yet to be heard from. Charles Leisner, in charge of the registration statistics, this morning wired these counties requests for a report.

Of those registered to date, 26,746 citizens or friendly aliens, none possible exemptions and 26,065 cite none. The aliens number 6,324, enemy aliens 572, and negroes 80.

WAS LUCKY DAY FOR WIDOW OF BISMARCK TRAVELING SALESMAN

Car Belonging to Late Husband Brought $1,572, and Wife
Drew Lucky Number

Sunday was Mrs. C. E. McCormick's lucky day. After a car which had formed part of the estate of her late husband, for years representative of Weyers Bros. & Cutler in this territory, had netted $1,572, Mrs. McCormick drew the number which won the car.

When a delegation, consisting of John Oberg, John L. George and Dan Stewart, who had officiated at the drawing, advised Mrs. McCormick of her good fortune, she was overwhelmed. She had not, until the travelers waited on her, any idea that the car would bring such an amount, and when on top of a check for $1,572 she was told that the car was hers also it took her breath away for a

RUTH LAW'S BOMBS GET LIBERTY LOAN BONDS

Ruth Law, American champion aviatrix, has attacked Cleveland, O., dropped "bombs" on the city, and gained more Liberty Loan bonds for the government. Other cities of the mid west are preparing for the attack by aeroplane to push ahead the purchase of bonds for Uncle Sam's first $2,000,000,000 issue.

Miss Law, who is Mrs. Charles Oliver on land, is here shown in regulation army aviator's uniform, with her French trench dog, "Polly." She wears a French service medal on her breast and the flying corps insignia on the collar. The aeroplane is a regulation Curtiss warplane.

In spite of her love for aviation, Miss Law despises elevators.

moment. Then she flatly declined to accept the car and insisted that another drawing take place in order that one of the travelers who had been so loyal to the memory of her late husband might become owner of the car.

Welch Final Winner.
Finding that Mrs. McCormick could not be persuaded to accept the car, which she had won in a fair field, another drawing was conducted, and this time the lucky number was found to carry the name of W. E. Welch, box 384, Bismarck. In each instance 25 tickets were drawn, and it was granted that the car should be awarded to the twenty-fifth. In the first drawing Little Miss Agnes Nielsen of Spencer, Minn., won. The first winning number was 2432. The late Charlie McCormick was a member of the Aberdeen lodge of Elks. When his antlered brethren learned that his car was to be disposed of by lot, they asked for 150 tickets, disposed of 109 of them and purchased the remaining 41 in the name of Mrs. McCormick. It was one of these tickets which originally won. Mr. Welch's number was 1058. The winner is a popular automobile salesman, for the last year or more connected with the Missouri Valley Motor company, and recently acting as agent for the White company.

The first 24 tickets drawn were held by George Brown, Dickinson; E. L. Morgan, Dickinson; M. J. Sheehan, D. J. McGillis, Col. J. N. Steen, Carson; Charles R. Neher, L. E. Hanson, Samuel Elker, New Leipzig; Mrs. C. E. McCormick, Roy Trager, C. H. Lorenz, Hebron; F. B. Glens, Minneapolis; A. E. McAdams, Bedford; Bing Adams, Robert Nash, Grand Forks; J. E. Agnew, Mandan; V. J. Nolde, Chaska; Makoti; R. Robertson, Andover; Fred Gackel, Kulm; V. V. Isaacs, Stanton; H. Cooley, G. H. Russ, Jr., A. L. Newton, Jamestown and O. W. Roberts.

Be Urged to Finance $12,000 Undertaking

The organization of a hospital company to consist of 91 men and whose equipment will involve an outlay of $10,000 to $12,000 will be urged upon Grand Forks, Minot or Fargo as a patriotic duty by the North Dakota medical committee of the national defense council. The committee has effected a permanent organization by electing Dr. V. H. Stickney of Dickinson, president of the North Dakota defense council, chairman, and Senator H. J. Rowe of Casselton secretary-treasurer. Other members of the committee, which reports direct to the national defense council at Washington, are Dr. R. D. Campbell of Grand Forks, Dr. A. J. McCannell of Minot, Dr. C. J. McGurran of Devils Lake and Dr. E. P. Quinn, N. A. Ramstad and V. J. LaRose of Bismarck.

Personnel of Company.
The hospital company proposed would consist of a captain and five lieutenants, all of whom must be qualified practitioners of surgery, five mechanics and five chauffeurs and buglers, cooks and other enlisted men, making up a total of 88. While such companies must be organized and equipped at local expense, when accepted they become a part of the medical division of the regular army, subject to the orders of the war department. It is probable that an active campaign for the organization of at least one North Dakota company will be taken up soon in one of the three towns named.

Examiners Recommended.
At the request of the national committee, the state medical board has recommended the names of Drs. McCannell of Minot and S. J. Hillis of Berthold to serve as examiners on the medical reserve corps. Both are active members of the medical reserve, and it will be their duty to travel about the state and hold examinations at stated points and intervals. All of this work previously has fallen on the shoulders of Lieut. A. M. Fisher of Bismarck, who has been the only officer qualified to make such examinations. He has passed 20 applicants from North Dakota and border counties in South Dakota and Montana for admission to the medical reserve corps, and probably as many more now await examination. The appointment of the traveling examiners recommended by the state committee will obviate the present necessity for candidates from all parts of the state journeying to Bismarck.

Liberty Loan

What Owning a United States Government Bond Will Mean To YOU

TO EVERY man and woman in this country, your government offers today an opportunity to own a 8 1/2% United States Government Bond, backed by all the resources of the richest nation in the world.

While we cannot all of us enlist in the active army, we can all of us enlist as financial volunteers. To the army at home, your government offers a solid, substantial business proposition.

Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo says: "The greatest immediate service the American people can render in this War for universal liberty throughout the world is to furnish the means for its vigorous prosecution. The Liberty Bond issue is the first step. I earnestly bespeak the co-operation of every citizen throughout the length and breadth of the land in this great service of patriotism."

In asking you to subscribe to the "Liberty Loan," your Government does not ask you to spend your money. Instead it holds out to you a splendid opportunity to save and to invest. Liberty Loan Bonds are backed by the total resources of the richest nation on earth—a nation whose yearly income alone is estimated at $90,000,000,000 or twenty-five times the present population.

IN MULTIPLES OF $50.
Liberty Loan Bonds may be purchased in multiples of $50 bearing 8 1/2% per cent interest payable semi-annually December 15th and June 15th. These bonds mature in 30 years and are redeemable in 15 years. They are exempt from all taxes except inheritance and estate, and may be registered in multiples of $100.

Should the Government before the end of the war issue any bonds at a higher rate of interest, the Liberty Loan Bonds become immediately convertible into higher rate bonds. Payments for Liberty Loan Bonds may be made 3 per cent on application, 15 per cent June 25, 1917, 25 per cent July 20, 1917, 20 per cent August 15, 1917, and 20 per cent August 30, 1917.

The last great government bond issue sold for par in 1898 and 1900. So valuable were these bonds considered that the Secretary of the Treasury could secure only one-tenth of the issue when he offered redemption.

SCHOOL TEACHERS.

Liberty Loan Bonds are the safest investment in the world. They may be registered in denominations of $100 thus giving protection against loss or theft. The income comes to you automatically when registered. Practice the patriotism you teach your children. Buy a bond.

MARRIED MEN.

Liberty Bonds as safe as life insurance for your wife and children. Uncle Sam never goes out of business and age or health are no barrier to your holding his bonds. Liberty Bonds give your wife a fixed income, without any business complications to worry her. Should she need the actual cash, she can sell her bonds without difficulty.

MOTHERS.

Buy the baby a bond. Liberty Bonds have purposely been made in multiples of $50 so that you can take them without difficulty. They will give your baby his education or start him out in business. The four payment periods make it possible for your husband and you to figure ahead a few months and plan on this nest egg for your children. Give your baby his start in life today with Uncle Sam as his "backer."

THOSE WHO HAVE ENLISTED.

Put your capital into Liberty Bonds for your family or mother now. Then you can be sure that while you are away your property is safe and is giving an income without complication to those at home.
